Dining Room Inspiration

This room inspired my design for your space. I like the curved drapery rods, upholstered seating, and wrought iron chandelier

This room shows the wall color, Chelsea Gray. It works beautifully with wood tones and adding neutral elements in upholstered chairs and drapery will keep the room soft and elegant.

Dining Room Layout

I also suggest a rug for under the table. I know you are planning an inlay but with out the rug it is a lot of wood on wood – especially if you keep the existing chairs. If you go with an upholstered chair you can do without the rug but it is still my preference.

Here I show two different layouts with regard to the buffet. First I suggest a new buffet rather than the current china cabinet to update the room. This will allow for more wall art above the buffet and on the adjacent wall. I show the wall décor ideas on the following page.

Dining Room

This chandelier will look beautiful over the table.

Art above the buffet will bring color and life to the room. I also like this mirror for the room.

I suggest a curved rod like this one from Ikea to connect your windows. Adding panels slightly lighter than your wall color with some texture will work beautifully.

These chairs will add comfort and texture to the room. The current table and chairs along with bare wood floors will be too much wood. These chairs will soften and update the space.

If you opt to keep your existing chairs then I suggest a rug under the table to break up the wood of the room.

A buffet like this will bring out the dark wood in the table top and create a nice area for entertaining.

Ways to accessorize the wall above the buffet

Options for the open wall

This is a timeless and staple centerpiece for the table – easy to maintain year round.

Add a vase or two like these to the top of the buffet with olive branches.

Family Room Layout

While this rendering is not 100% to scale you can get an idea of how I think the room should be laid out. This will open it up and putting the TV above the fireplace would be ideal.

These colors will accent each other and having the fireplace in the Jackson Tan will really pop once the surround is painted white.

I like the idea of bamboo blinds for your family room to add texture and privacy.

Throw pillows like these would connect the current rug and new wall color. I would add 5-6 total to your sofa and one to your chair.

Family Room

I suggest mounting the television above the fireplace in your family room. This removes the TV from blocking a window. Once your trim and mantle are painted white add some simple candlesticks to either side of the TV.

The blue accents will connect the family room with the kitchen.

A piece like this would house your office supplies/mail and also serve as a beautiful area to display art and accessories.

Kitchen

I think bringing a blue color to the walls will be a nice change from what you currently have and will also look beautiful with the white cabinets and dark floors. You can use the same curved curtain rods as the dining room in the kitchen and use either the buffalo check or pretty blue pattern I show here.

Updated lighting for above the table and island (x2).

Master Bedroom layout

Wall and tray ceiling will be painted this soft gray - Half Moon Crest. Your accent colors will be white, black, and tan.

The layout you currently has works. The changes will come in the window treatments, bedding, paint, and lighting.

Master Bedroom Inspiration

I love the way the ceiling is painted to match the walls. This would look lovely in your room! Also use the way the bed is made here as a sample for how you can make your bed.

This is a sample of what Half Moon Crest paint looks like. It is a rich medium gray and with all of your natural sunlight it will be beautiful!

Master Bedroom

Dress your bed in white with gray accents. Since your bed is a king use at least (3) euro pillows.

The wood and metal of this chandelier would be gorgeous above your bed.

These Roman shades would bring pattern to your walls without being overpowering. They have blackout liners so they would also keep the sun out.

These frames would be beautiful to the right of your dresser with pictures of your kids

Add throw pillows like these – two in one pattern and one in the other to the top of your pillows.

Adding this natural fiber rug will add texture to the floor and be soft underfoot.

The kids

This would be so pretty in your daughters room. I would paint the walls like the inspiration photo shows – Jade Frost by Glidden. For privacy, add a white room darkening cellular shade and then to make it feminine I like the white and lavender panels.

This bedding would be sweet for your youngest son. The wall color is from Sherwin Williams – Aleutian 6241

Benjamin Moore Shaker Beige HC-45, would look great on your older sons walls. You can also see if the wood blinds you are removing from the family room would fit on his windows.

Lighting Options

I think you can keep the large chandelier in your foyer and simply spray paint the metal to be bronze. Additionally I would do the same with the fixture leading into your dining room from the kitchen.
